ENCLOSURES (NO. & TYPE)

REMARKS

[REDACTED] 25X1X

1. On 29 April 1953, no activity was observed at Leipzig-Mockau airfield. On 22 May, a glider was parked on the landing field but there was no air activity by the glider. No constructional changes were observed on the buildings at the field. A portion of the main building seemed to be occupied as several windows were open.
2. No changes were observed at the field on 12 May when compared with previous observations. On 10 June, two gliders were parked at the field. Source assumed that with the arrival of sand and bricks by rail, construction work, possibly on a hangar, was intended. Source further observed that a tube was being removed from a ditch.

Comment. The status of Leipzig-Mockau airfield has not changed. The field is not occupied by Soviet Air Force troops. It was previously used only by commercial planes during the Leipzig Fair.
